

Name: Professor Stephen Campbell
Co-opted Governor

Stephen Campbell is a Co-opted Governor. He went to school in Stockport at Reddish Vale Comprehensive School and before that at North Reddish Junior School. He then completed a degree in Leicester in public administration and a MA (Econ) and PhD at the University of Manchester in primary health care. He is a Professor of Primary Care Research at the University of Manchester and has worked for the University for over 26 years. His research focuses mostly on the quality and patient safety of health and social care. He also teaches, and supervises PhD students, about primary care and health services. Stephen has worked in Universities in several countries including Australia and Germany. He is passionate about learning and the importance of education as a means to improve life opportunities and life-skills; not just in terms of careers but also, equally, as a means to better enjoy life.